

Wickedly Wild Wyoming Winterland Wonder, Year 2!

Round 1, 2022 NASBA Pure Adrenaline Motorsports National Championship Snow Bike Series, January 15 – Alpine, Wyoming

Words by Ron Dillon – Photos by Bill Francis

Round one of the 2022 NASBA (North American Snow Bike Association) Pure Adrenaline Motorsports Special Warfare National Championship Snow Bike Series returned to the pretty little town of Alpine, Wyoming. The almost one-mile long, twisty track sits in the middle of Alpine, on the banks of the Snake River, right next to the impressive Melvin Brewery. Mayor Kennis Lutz and local businesses threw their support into the event and for the second year in a row, it was a success, drawing almost 600 spectators and racers from across the West. For the first time ever, it was also part of the popular IMR Snocross race series, which brought in a number of snowmobile racers.

Young racer River Rogers has been steadily improving over the last couple of years and he has reached the point that he signed up for the first time in the men's pro class at Alpine. His fast, smooth, flawless riding was impressive, although his friend Cory Kelley challenged him both motos to finish second.

Northern Idaho's Jamey Parks looked fast, smooth and happy, as she rocketed around to take the top pro women's spot over Erin Robinson, and local, Austin Sharpe rode clean and fast to win the always interesting Open Trophy class, with Hudson Hawkins taking the 350 class.

Obviously the awards ceremony was a hit since it was held inside nearby Melvin Brewing which was toasty warm and filled with wonderful food and beverages. As the day wound down, everyone agreed that this was a really solid event with the perfect mix of stunning scenery, a friendly town, and a great track, and the National Snow Bike Series will most certainly stop here again in the future.

Round 2 of the 2022 Pure Adrenaline Motorsports NASBA National Championship Snow Bike Series will be held on the edge of town on Warm Lake Road near Cascade, Idaho on January 29. This will be year 13 for the event, making it the world's oldest snow bike race, and it is running at an all-new location, with far more parking, way better spectator viewing and a better track.

Partners for the Alpine race were: Pure Adrenaline Motorsports, US Air Force Special Warfare, Intermountain Snocross Series Rockwell Time, Rexburg Motorsports, Lincoln County Customs, Melvin Brewing, Salt River Motors, SMS, Yeti, Flying Saddle Inn, Black Mountain Rentals, and Silverstar Internet. Special thanks to: Mayor Kennis Lutz,

City employees Melody and Ira, Tyler Plowman, Troy and Kari Johnson, Frank Magazine, Shannon Bowers, Doug McNeel, Mike Vogt, and Eric Byan.

North Idaho pro man, Cory Kelley, shreds a berm on his way to second.
